

Non-Medical Volunteers: Interpreter

The Interpreter acts as a liaison between the medical staff and the patients and between families and local hosts whenever necessary. The role of the Interpreter is to interpret exactly what is being asked and not to comment unless so requested. An Interpreter must be flexible and be able to work under intense, emotional and often times confusing conditions.